LEISUREZONE OPENS

A NEW era of sport and recreation dawned in Harlow this week when the £25m Leisurezone complex finally opened to the public.

The long-awaited centre, in Second Avenue, offers both wet and dry sport facilities under one roof.

The complex was originally expected to open last October but contractor Leadbitter was hit by a number of weather and health and safety-related delays.

Tonia Gosling, chief executive of the Harlow & District Sports Trust, said: "The quality of the facilities we now have really puts Harlow back on the map."

And trust chairman Pat Hay added: "This is a really exciting time for Harlow residents. The sporting and leisure opportunities available at Harlow Leisurezone are absolutely outstanding and it will be one of the best facilities in the country."

Harlow Council leader Andrew Johnson said: "This state-of-the-art community leisure centre is the jewel in the crown of the Gateway Project."

Spending squeeze saves council £1.5m

By CHRIS MOSS

chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

CASH-strapped Harlow Council spent £1.5m less than it had budgeted for during the past financial year.

The authority's draft statement of accounts for 2009/10 show it managed to keep a tight rein on its spending despite the crippling effects of the recession.

However, council officers are recommending that £300,000 should be carried over to the current year because of delays in spending and the rest of the money kept in reserves to help safeguard the authority's future financial position.

Councillor Simon Carter, executive committee member and chairman of the resources working group, said: "This is a significant achievement for the council given the financial pressures facing local government.

"Topping up our reserves puts our finances on a stronger footing and will help protect the council's future financial position."

"Councillors took tough decisions last year but this has resulted in a more stable financial position. The underspend is a result of council officers keeping

MP welcomes 'Robin Hood' budget

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon has hailed the coalition Government's emergency spending plans as a "Robin Hood budget" that will protect the poorest and most vulnerable members of society.

Mr Halfon said the measures announced by Chancellor George Osborne on Tuesday would help the poor more than the rich while stabilising the British economy.

"The national debt is set to double to £1.4 trillion in five years, equivalent to £22,000 for every man, woman and child in the country," he said.

"Despite some very painful measures announced to deal with Labour's economic mess, this is a Robin Hood budget. When you look at the key measures, it protects the most vulnerable people in our society."

He admitted increasing VAT to 20 per cent would be painful but welcomed plans for a levy on banks which could raise up to £2bn a year.

"At a time when the coalition Government was forced to take unavoidable and difficult decisions such as on VAT, it is right that we have protected people on lower incomes and demanded that the banks pay us back for the bailout they received during the recession," he added.

However, former Harlow MP Bill Rammell described the budget as a "political scandal".

"Despite the Office For Budgetary Responsibility showing that finances were in better shape than Alistair Darling had predicted in his last budget, the Government has chosen to make cuts and raise taxes significantly above what is necessary to deal with the deficit," he said.

"It is a political scandal that both Tories and Liberal Democrats promised not to raise VAT in their general election campaigns and have now done so."

a tight control on the finances and regular monitoring by councillors during the credit crisis."

However, the council's grant allocation for 2010/11 will be slashed by £27,000 as part of the Government's attempts to reduce spending on local government by £1.166bn.

Essex County Council will also have its grant cut and Harlow councillors are waiting to see if or how this will affect its support for the town.

"It's too early to say what the impact of the cuts will be, but one reassurance we can give residents is that we are always looking at ways of working smarter and better to provide value for money," said Mr Carter.

"This year we are making efficiency savings beyond the previous government's targets, plugging a budget shortfall of more than £1.7m as well as freeing our share of council tax.

"Now we've got to do our bit to reduce the national debt and we are prepared for this."

The draft accounts will be reported to the council's audit and executive committees today (Thursday) after which they will be available for public inspection and external audit.

Firefighters pull in the cash for Rae

AS if their day job wasn't difficult enough, a team of Harlow firefighters pulled a 14-tonne fire engine around the town on Saturday to raise money for a toddler born with a life-limiting health condition.

The 20-strong group, supported by ladies from Harlow Rugby Club, started from the fire station in Fourth Avenue.

A rolling road block opened up a route to Old Harlow and Church Langley before they headed back to the town centre, finishing outside the Esperta health club.

They collected £1,350 in buckets on the day and expect the total to top £2,000 once all the sponsorship money comes in.

The money will go towards buying Harlow youngster Rae White, pictured right, who was born with Spinal Muscular Atrophy Type II, a special motorised wheelchair which will greatly improve her quality of life as she is paralysed from the waste down.

Firefighter Craig Douglas said: "We'd like to say a big thank you to the people of Harlow for supporting us and for putting up with the rolling traffic block.

"The weather was perfect. It started out quite sunny but we had some rain which helped to cool us down. It was like someone wanted to make sure we completed it."

Firefighter Craig Douglas said: "We'd like

Thug fails in sentence appeal

A THUG who left his victim in intensive care after repeatedly smashing his head on the ground has failed in a bid to have his prison sentence reduced.

Steven Michael Smith (22), of Taylifers, Harlow, was convicted of causing grievous bodily harm at Chelmsford Crown Court last July and jailed for four years.

On Monday his lawyers failed to convince judges at the Court of Criminal Appeal that the sentence was too severe.

The court heard Smith had been drinking heavily before the attack in November 2008.

Smith's lawyers claimed the sentence was "manifestly excessive" due to his young age, his remorse and the fact no weapon was used or long-term injury caused.

Sporting first for Harlow

By DAN PHILLIPS

daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Do you remember the Early years of Harlow Sportcentre?

The opening of Harlow's multi-million pound Leisurezone this week heralds a new era of sporting recreation for the town.

But here at Nostalgia we thought it timely to take a look backwards rather than forwards to the building it will be replacing.

Harlow Sportcentre came into existence in Hammariskjold Road in 1960. It was originally seen as a town stadium providing facilities for football, athletics, cricket, hockey and tennis to the population of the burgeoning new town.

Writing in the book Harlow: The Story of a New Town, social development officer Len White recalls: "In 1958 a group of enthusiasts from the Industrial Sports Association came to see [general manager] Ben Harvey and asked when the development corporation was going to build the stadium.

"They were rather taken aback when he replied 'When are you going to build it?', making the point that we were the planners and not the all-providers.

"They left, agreeing to join a committee representing sportsmen, industry, the professions and the corporation. The term sportcentre had not yet been invented."

The Harlow and District Sports Trust was set up with a grant and a supporters club raised a further £20,000. The corporation paid for an athletics track and pitches for cricket and hockey.

The hall at the Sportcentre was then added in 1964 and it was the UK's first community sports hall.

Mr White writes: "The aim has been to provide a family centre where the novice can feel as much at home as young aspirants for national and international honours."

● Do you have any memories or photographs from those early days of Harlow Sportcentre that you would like to share with our readers? If so, send them to Nostalgia, Harlow Star, 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or email daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A reader's in-choir-y

READER Susan Crawford has written to Nostalgia with a request for a photograph of the Burnt Mill School choir who provided the music at the wedding of old boy and former Spurs and England legend Glenn Hoddle.

Mrs Crawford's daughter Debbie sung in the choir around 1979.

To give you an idea of what we are looking for, here is a picture of the choir from the archives at the Museum of Harlow. It was taken in 1964 which makes it a little too old for Mrs Crawford's purposes as Glenn was born in 1957.

If you have a photo you can email a copy direct to Mrs Crawford at susan.crawford@live.com or, if you prefer, to the Nostalgia desk at daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

25 years ago . . .

Fast food feud

Vans selling takeaway food have been slammed as unfair competition by an angry group of fast food shop owners in Harlow. In response, the council has imposed a 30-minute waiting limit on the mobile food vans.

French guest

French firefighter Stephane Morizot saw for himself how British firefighters handle things when he spent four days at Harlow fire station. Stephane (25) comes from Harlow's twin town Velizy.

Read all about it

The librarian in charge of Harlow Central Library has retired after 21 years at the library and a lifetime's service to book lovers. Leslie Ward spent his career in the profession and even met his wife June in a library.

Carnival fun

Carnival spirit had Harlow singing and dancing with a fun-packed day for young and old. The carnival procession of floats, led by Queen Kim Daechie, made its way along a three-mile route to the Town Park.

Apprentices flag up their painting skills

PAINTING and decorating apprentices at Harlow College showed their true colours when they brightened up the campus with the national flags of all 32 World Cup teams.

The students brushed up on their skills and attention to detail by decorating their workshop wall.

College lecturer Ian Smith said: "They wanted to have a class sweepstake and the idea grew from there. They have been really enthusiastic about the project and we've been blessed with some fantastic weather."

Among those whose skills were put to the test were Jordan Innes and Adrian Edwards (both 18), from Harlow.

"This has been something different and I've enjoyed working on it," said Jordan. "We've had a few pedestrians walking by and they've said some encouraging things."

Adrian added: "This World Cup project has been fun but I've enjoyed all of my course. "It's good to learn new stuff and when I've finished at the college I'm going to work for myself, set up my own business."

Rail victim's 'son of God' delusion

A MAN with a history of mental illness believed he was the son of God and may have thought he was invincible when he stepped out in front of an express train at Harlow Town station.

Welder Gary Planck (43), of Linford Close, Harlow, was killed instantly when the Cambridge-bound train struck him on June 12, 2008.

An inquest into his death, held in Chelmsford on Friday, heard he came to believe that God had saved him after he survived a "leap of faith" from Westminster Bridge into the River Thames in 2006.

Essex assistant deputy coroner Eleanor McGann said Mr Planck may have been "testing God again" when he stepped on front of the train.

As the driver of the train approached the station he saw Planck crouching down, ready to step on to the track. The driver immediately applied the brakes but it was too late.

A camera installed on the front of the train showed Mr Planck stepping in between the tracks and standing upright with his arms outstretched, looking directly at the approaching train.

Tests later showed he had smoked cannabis a few hours before his death.

The coroner said Mr Planck had suffered from psychiatric illness since 2003. As well as being bipolar he had an individual psychosis due to his use of cannabis which had escalated his mental health problems.

She continued: "He believed that he was the son of God and that God was performing miracles for him. In 2004 he reported to mental health services that he had jumped into the Thames and described this as a leap of faith."

"There are further incidents where he said he was the son of God. In 2006 he said God was performing miracles for him."

"On August 31 2006 he was seen to jump off Westminster Bridge. He was rescued and he said it was to see if God would save him."

"It's possible in his deluded mind and under the influence of cannabis that he was testing

God yet again and he thought that God would save him"

Verdict: open.

Ann Shimmen (48), of St John's Road, Epping, was killed instantly after climbing down on to the track and turning her back on the Cambridge-bound train on January 4.

In a letter to her husband Anthony dated a few days before she died, she wrote: "I cannot live on my own. I don't want to live at all. Thank you for being there and good luck with your new life."

The inquest was told post mortem tests revealed Mrs Shimmen had a high concentration of alcohol – over three times the legal driving limit – and prescribed anti-depressant and anti-psychotic drugs in her bloodstream.

Verdict: suicide.

Man flipped over early morning bread delivery

A MAN lost his temper and attacked a van driver delivering bread to a supermarket early in the morning.

John Rhodes (39) had complained about the time of deliveries to the Co-op store in Tumbler Road before the assault on the morning of July 20 last year, Chelmsford Crown Court heard.

He was given a three-month jail sentence suspended for 12 months and ordered to complete 80 hours of unpaid community work after pleading guilty to assault.

The court heard the victim, David Laughlin (57), had just completed his delivery at 7.35am when he was confronted by Rhodes. The pair walked back towards the shop when a struggle began during which the defendant grabbed Mr Laughlin and forced him to the ground.

Mr Laughlin later told police he felt a punch and decided to headbutt Rhodes in the hope of knocking him out or bringing him to his senses, but instead Rhodes punched him and bit his finger.

Mr Laughlin suffered a nose bleed, a split lip, a cut to his eyebrow, a swollen ear, bruises and graze to his arm.

Police were called and both men were arrested.

James Howard, representing Rhodes, said that at the time of the incident Rhodes was depressed following the death of his mother. After the assault he and his partner sold their home in Purford Green at a £50,000 loss to get away from the loss of sleep caused by the early deliveries.

Mr Howard said the headbutt had broken his client's nose and left him permanently disfigured.

Passing sentence, recorder David Cartwright said he accepted Rhodes had a strong and genuine sense of grievance about delivery times but said that was not Mr Laughlin's fault.

Rhodes was also ordered to pay Mr Laughlin's £300 in compensation and £100 costs.

Card thieves access OAP's bank account

POLICE have released these CCTV images of three people they want to question in connection with the theft of cash from a pensioner.

The 80-year-old victim was withdrawing money from an ATM at Sainsbury's in Fifth Avenue, Harlow, when she was approached from behind by a man who distracted her while her card was removed from the machine. She later discovered money had been withdrawn from her account.

The theft of the card took place at 4.30pm on Monday, April 12. Anyone who knows the identity of the suspects should call Harlow police on 0300 333 4444.

Town shows support for the troops by flying the flag

HARLOW Council is flying the flag this week to show the town's support for British troops ahead of Saturday's Armed Forces Day.

In a short service held on Monday, council chairwoman Sue Livings read a speech before the commemorative flag was raised outside the Civic Centre.

The ceremony was attended by representatives from the Royal British Legion, councillors and council staff.

After the flag was raised the National Anthem was played.

Mrs Livings said: "Armed Forces Day is an annual opportunity for the nation to show their support for the men and women who make up the Armed Forces community, from currently serving troops to service families and from veterans to cadets.

"Our support for the Armed Forces provides a much valued morale boost for the troops and their families."

The flag is flying alongside the Cross of St. George which has been raised by the council in support of England's World Cup campaign.

'Jail wish' teen gets suspended sentence

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A TEENAGER who claimed to have been shunned and branded a murderer despite being cleared of killing of a 24-year old woman in an arson attack has been given a fresh start by a judge after he confessed to two attempted burglaries.

Carl Manton (19), of Bishopsfield, Harlow, broke down in tears at an earlier hearing in March this year when he told the court he wanted to go to jail for three years because of his treatment following the collapse of the Kerry Youngs murder trial last June.

But at Chelmsford Crown Court on Tuesday he was described as a "different young man" and escaped an immediate jail term after Judge Rodger Hayward-Smith gave him a six-month suspended sentence.

Manton was also ordered to attend a Thinking Skills programme, an education training and employment programme and was referred to the criminal justice mental health team.

The court heard how he had attempted to burgle two homes in Joyners Field, Harlow, on December 9 last year. He was arrested after running towards a police officer while carrying a screwdriver.

The judge said the offences were pre-planned although unsophisticated and were committed when Manton was depressed, demoralised and had probably been drinking.

Manton received a psychiatric assessment after admitting to the attempted break-ins. His lawyer, James Howard, said in mitigation: "He tells me he's very much better; he realised his life was in a mess.

"He spent nine months in custody on remand on the murder charge and, following acquittal, his life was turned upside down.

"He was shunned, unable to get a job and received threats. He drowned himself in drink because it got to the point he couldn't get out of the front door."

The judge told him: "You have already served the equivalent of a six-month sentence. You need help to ensure this doesn't happen again."

Church filled with flowers and art

FLORAL displays and works of art brought a splash of colour to a Harlow church when it staged a joint flower show and art exhibition.

The bi-annual festival at St Andrew's Methodist Church in The Stow had as its theme places mentioned in the Bible.

Some 15 vibrant floral arrangements were displayed while four paintings in the art exhibition were sold, with 10 per cent of the takings going to the church.

Musical entertainment was provided by local youngsters playing piano, flute and guitar, while a group of parishioners gave a performance of Ghanaian drumming.

Church flower secretary Joan Eagles, pictured above with one of the displays, said: "It was beautiful and went very, very well.

"Afterwards, some of the flowers were used at church services and many were taken to elderly people's homes in Harlow."

Pensioner dies in road accident

AN elderly cyclist died in hospital after he was involved in a road accident in Epping.

The 70-year-old man, who lived in Ongar, was in collision with a black Mercedes van on Houlblons Hill at 2.45pm on Thursday, June 17.

He was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital but died a short time later.

The van driver, a 52-year-old man from Harlow, was uninjured.

A section of the road was closed for several hours while forensic collision investigators tried to establish the cause of the crash.

Police have appealed for anyone who witnessed the accident to contact investigating officers at Chigwell Road Policing Unit on 0300 333 4444.

Tickled PINK!

Midnight Walk raises £100k for hospice

OH what a night! A river of pink flowed through Harlow on Saturday as more than 1,400 people – many wearing flashing bunny ears and sets of angel wings – took part in the St Clare Hospice Midnight Walk.

Organisers are confident the Star-backed event, which is now in its third year, will have raised in excess of £100,000.

After a warm-up session led by a team from Harlow Sportcentre with support from the Ten-17 roadshow, the walkers set off from the Water Gardens car park at 10.30pm at the start of a 10km route which took them to Old Harlow and back.

First to complete the course were Angie Dines from Epping and Karen Wilson of Old Harlow, pictured below. They crossed the finishing line together in a time of one hour and 20 minutes.

Everyone who successfully completed the walk was presented with a medal in recognition of their achievement.

"We are all absolutely delighted with the Midnight Walk and would like to say a massive thank you to everyone who came along despite the threatening black rain clouds and cold wind," said events fundraiser Tracy Stratford.

"I would also like to say a big thank you to all of the sponsors and companies that have donated items for us, to the Harlow Star and Ten-17 for all their promotional work, our sponsors Blue Printing Company, News International and Geoffrey Matthews estate agents, and also the Water Gardens, Asda, Speedyhire, Harlow Police, Raynet, Bookers, Alistage, Harlow Sports Centre, Rowlys van hire, Epping Volunteer Centre and Kier Harlow.

"Finally, we could not have put the event on without all the help from our staff and volunteers who helped pack goody bags, sold bunny ears, signed people in and marshalled on the course so a huge thank you to all these wonderful helpers."

● MIDNIGHT Walk organisers are urging everyone who raised sponsorship to send it in by July 30. All those who do so by that date will be entered into a prize draw.

The individual and team that raise the most money will also win a special prize.

Driven Out of Business?

The European Parliament voted by 368-301 to extend the scope of the Working Time Directive to include self-employed lorry and bus drivers. It means time spent on paperwork for their business will have to be included as tacograph driving time or staff will have to be employed to do it for them - an unaffordable overhead for most.

The original directive was designed to prevent the exploitation of employees by employers, not to micro manage the self-employed. As long as health and safety rules are observed, self-employed drivers should be free to work on their administration. This draconian extension is a massive assault on liberty and free enterprise, and sets a dangerous precedent. Small businesses are the engine of our economy and should not be wiped out by EU over-regulation.

Names appeal for new memorial to honour war dead

By CHRIS MOSS
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

RESIDENTS are being asked for their help in supplying the names of Harlow's fallen heroes for inclusion on a new war memorial.

Harlow Council is working in partnership with the town's branch of the Royal British Legion to add a new plinth at the Netteswell War Memorial garden in the Town Park.

But first it needs to verify the names of all those who have made the ultimate sacrifice for their country.

The memorial will reflect the town's debt of gratitude to members of the Armed Forces who have given their lives in conflicts since 1945. They will include Private Robert Foster, the soldier who died in Afghanistan in 2007.

Councillor Joel Charles, chairman of the community & citizenship working group, said: "There are a number of war memorials across the town commemorating service personnel from the villages that were here before Harlow was created in 1947.

"We think there should be a Harlow War Memorial and that is why we have decided to create a new memorial, adjacent to Netteswell Cross, to commemorate all those from Harlow who have given their lives in conflicts since 1945."

For an individual's name to be included on the memorial they must have been born in Harlow or had strong links with the town and they must have been a member of the Armed Forces killed on active service in a recognised conflict.

Subject to confirming details with the Ministry of Defence and the deceased's family, names confirmed by September 30 will be included on the memorial in time for a dedication on Remembrance Sunday.

Anyone submitting names should provide as much information as possible about each individual, including the service, regiment, name, date of birth, service period, service number and a brief history.

Details can be supplied online at www.harlow.gov.uk/warrememorial or sent to Joe McGill, the council's property and facilities manager, at the Civic Centre.

Care home releases balloons to raise awareness of abuse

ELEVEN balloons were released at a care home in Harlow to highlight the plight of elderly people who suffer from abuse. Many of the 61 residents of Tye Green Lodge took part in the event which was held in the home's garden last Wednesday. It was organised by Quantum Care, the company which owns the home. Staff and residents enjoyed cream teas and cakes during the afternoon.

Deputy home manager Cathy Luckin said: "Awareness of abuse is something the company is really passionate about.

"The day is a way of remembering that there are many who are not as lucky as the residents here."

Judge imposes town ban on serial flasher

A FATHER-of-four who repeatedly exposed himself to schoolgirls in Harlow over a five-year period has been spared an immediate jail sentence.

Keith Tulloch (52), of Bishop's Stortford, caused shock and disgust before being caught by police in February, Chelmsford Crown Court heard.

Tulloch, an IT consultant, admitted seven charges and also helped police clear up other incidents dating back to 2005 by asking for 33 offences to be taken into consideration.

He was given an eight-month prison sentence suspended for two years and ordered to complete a sex offenders programme. He was also made the subject of an anti social behaviour order which prevents him from returning to Harlow – other than passing through on a train – or going to a park without his wife or at least one of his children.

The court heard Tulloch, who was born in Harlow, struck in the First Avenue area of the town, exposing himself to groups of young girls, some of them under the age of 12. The offences took place near a paddling pool, parks and footpaths.

Richard Stevens, prosecuting, said Tulloch's pattern was to commit offences in January and September during 2005 to 2007 before an escalation the following year, said Richard Stevens, prosecuting. He was arrested in February this year as he crouched in bushes.

Jamie Sawyer, representing Tulloch, said in mitigation he committed the offences when he was at a low ebb because he had no work.

He said that Tulloch had been married for 27 years, had four grown-up children and the offences were stress-related. Tulloch described his life as drudgery and said he was thrill-seeking by drawing attention to himself, said Mr Sawyer.

He has now been offered a job and was extremely ashamed about what had taken place.

THE doors of Harlow's state-of-the-art sports and leisure complex were thrown open to the public for the first time yesterday (Wednesday).

The £25m Harlow Leisurezone heralds a new era in recreation by offering both wet and dry sports facilities under one roof.

Indoor tennis courts, a gymnasium and sports hall have been built alongside an eight-lane swimming pool.

The centre in Second Avenue also boasts a weights room, fitness studios and a host of other facilities including a lounge/bar and cafe and a Science Alive education area.

Tonia Gosling, chief executive of the Harlow & District Sports Trust, told the Star the centre would improve the quality of life for every person in Harlow.

"It's not just about sport, it's about leisure too," she said. "People used to come to the local sports centre just to play sport."

"We are targeting the half-day experience with not only options to take part in sport and leisure activities, but also the quality of catering that people would want to come here to eat and relax."

The centre has a complex pricing structure, ranging from the highest bracketed gold membership at a cost of £58 per month to the off-peak bronze level costing £25 a year.

Bronze level members also have to pay as they use the facilities – £5.90 for a peak time gym session or £3.90 to use the pool.

Non members will have to pay an extra £2 for most activities, while Harlow residents holding a Leisure Card benefit from reduced bronze membership rates.

Ms Gosling said the pricing structure represented good value for the whole community. "There is a range of payment options to meet the needs of the community."

"The prices charged at the centre are comparable with other facilities in the area but in quality of what we have got here and the experience, the community will get real value for money."

Leisurezone is part of the £50m Harlow

Gateway project aimed at providing homes as well as leisure and lifestyle opportunities for people living in the town.

"The Gateway Partnership has been absolutely committed and it's that commitment and passion to see this through and realise the vision that was there eight years ago that makes it what it is today," said Ms Gosling.

Leisurezone was originally scheduled to open last October but bad weather pushed the handover of the building to the sports trust until January.

Then a building inspection raised safety concerns over the installation of fire dampers, forcing developer Leadbitter to revise its completion date to May.

Don't miss out on a chance to launch your business idea

TIME is running out for budding entrepreneurs hoping to climb the ladder of success by taking part in a unique business competition.

Launch Pad, which is supported by prominent members of Harlow's business community and backed by Star, will allow people the opportunity to pitch their business ideas to a panel of experts.

The aim is to find someone from the Harlow or surrounding area with a winning business idea.

The winner will receive dedicated mentoring, advice and guidance from each of the six judges to support them in launching their business idea.

The competition is open to anyone over the age of 16 living in the town or the surrounding district (including Epping, North Weald, Sawbridge-worth, Bishop's Stortford and Stansted).

Those chosen to take part will present their concepts and these will be streamed online for members of the public to vote for their favourite. Each week one idea will be selected for a place in the grand final, where the judges will select an overall winner.

Launch Pad was the brainchild of Robert Ellice, managing director of property company Clarke Hillyer and local entrepreneur who, having grown up and worked in the area, wanted to provide a platform for people from the district to showcase their business ideas and have the opportunity to develop and turn them into reality.

The project has been brought to life by Bryan Hunt, who said: "Launch Pad was an idea that came around after we expanded Clarke Hillyer into Harlow.

"From visiting various networking events it was apparent that the main topic of discussion was to try to encourage new businesses to come to the area. This then set the wheels in motion to organise this initiative, which will not only see a brand new business start up in Harlow but will hopefully capture the imagination of the local public."

The panel of judges are ready to listen to a pitch for any kind of business, but they must be convinced that there is a place for it in the market and that it will be a success. All applicants will be reviewed and a shortlist of the strongest ideas will be drawn up. The candidates will then be invited to present their concepts to the panel of experts.

Their presentations will be filmed by media students from Harlow College and then uploaded on to the Launch Pad website. The public will be invited to view the videos and vote for their favourite ideas.

Each week the candidate with the greatest number of votes will win a place in the grand final. Once all the finalists have been selected, they will get the chance to present to the judges again and this time it will be the judges who decide which of the ideas they believe will be the next big thing.

How to enter

Application forms can be completed online or downloaded to print and post. Visit the Launch Pad website at www.launchpad-harlow.org which includes full details of the terms and conditions.

Fashion final   for diploma students

YOUNG fashionistas at Harlow College have been weaving their magic for charity at their end-of-year show.

Students on the National Diploma Fashion and Clothing course showcased their work on the catwalk in the college's Glass Box Theatre on Monday. More than 100 designs created by the students were modelled during the show which also highlighted their commitment to raising awareness of the British Heart Foundation.

By DAN PHILLIPS
daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

The students decided to raise money for the charity and also incorporate its brand image into a series of red garments styled with helium balloons.

As part of the diploma course, the students were asked to design, pattern cut and produce a garment that was in support of their chosen charity. The only restriction was that the garment had to include an element of red.

First year student Jon Winter (17) said: "We had the freedom to design what we wanted and then chose a style of fabric which complemented our design."

After learning the basic techniques in the first year, the students progress to designing their portfolio work which is produced throughout the second year.

This year's designs also featured millinery and the students' own take on the toy industry.

Course leader Shelley Clarke said: "This event showcases the final major projects of our year two students, who are leaving us this year to continue their education at degree level. They will be studying at top universities including the London College of Fashion, University of East London, Middlesex University and many more."

"They have produced innovative, highly diverse and spectacular collections."

The event was also used to highlight national VQ Day which drew attention to the importance of vocational qualifications.

Harlow College is the largest provider of vocational qualifications in the area and is in England's top five per cent of colleges for success rates.

Don't forget to send Race for Life money

DID you take part in the Cancer Research UK Race for Life in Harlow last month? And if you did, have you collected and sent in your sponsorship money?

The event held in the Town Park has already raised £131,000 but the organisers do not want to miss out on any uncollected money.

One person who has already added her sponsorship to the pot is Chloe Geake (24), of Fold Croft. She raised £243 after running in the new 10k version of the Race.

Chloe, whose aunt was diagnosed with cancer of the bladder, had taken part in the Race for Life on two previous occasions. "I walked it the first time I took part but then when I heard about my aunt it really brought it home and the next year I ran it," she said. "This year I did the 10k."

"This was in an effort to raise more money for the cause. Everyone knows someone who has been affected by cancer in some way."

Her aunt had a successful operation to clear the cancer six months ago but Chloe decided to continue raising cash for cancer charities. Her employer Lighter Life, based at Pinnacles, sponsored her for £100.

● Anyone who took part in the Race For Life but who has yet to send in their sponsorship money can do so online with a credit/debit card at www.raceforlife.org/secure/paying/paying, by telephone on 0871 641 1111 or by sending a cheque (made payable to Cancer Research UK) to Race for Life, PO Box 442, Northampton NN3 6UU.

All families who have suffered a bereavement are invited to the service which starts at noon in the Alexandra Day Unit next to the maternity unit.

The service will be followed by an opportunity for bereaved families to meet others who have lost a baby.

Nicola McCormack, chairman of Stillbirth and Neonatal Death Society, said: "The bereavement group is committed to improve bereavement services within the maternity unit at PAH. It consists of a group of dedicated staff and lay representatives."

For more information call Mrs McCormack on (01279) 723226 or Angela Brewis at the hospital on (01279) 444455 extension 2834.

Library guide for visually impaired

A NEW audio guide to the services provided by local libraries has been produced by Essex County Council to help visually impaired people.

The guide is already available in booklet form but now it also comes in either CD or cassette tape format.

The introductory guide tells residents what their local library, including the Harlow Library in Broad Walk, has to offer.

The guide also includes additional information likely to be of interest to visually impaired people, including access to audio books from the library and through the RNIB Talking Book Service.

Councillor Jeremy Lucas, Essex County Council's cabinet member for heritage, culture and the arts, said: "This guide allows those who may be visually impaired or have reading difficulties the opportunity to fully understand and enjoy all the wonderful facilities Essex Libraries have to offer."

Charity strikes it lucky as Anne opens its new shop

HARLOW paralympian Anne Wafula Strike opened a new charity shop raising money for a centre that helps people living with severe epilepsy.

The St Elizabeth's Centre shop at Staple Tye will sell furniture and electrical items as well as secondhand clothes and bric-a-brac. It is the third and largest opened by the Much Hadham-based charity, which also has shops at Bush Fair and Bishop's Stortford. Retail development manager Tracey Harley said: "It was fantastic of Anne to open the shop. It is very important to us to have with us local people who have made good against all the odds. We hope it's the start of a long association."

Control is the key to living with diabetes

DIABETES is a long-term condition caused by too much sugar in the blood. It affects two million people in England and Wales and it is thought that there are a further 750,000 people who have the condition but are unaware of it.

There are two types of diabetes – type one and type two. Most of the symptoms are the same for both but there are differences in the way they develop.

The main symptoms of diabetes are:

- feeling very thirsty
- producing excessive amounts of urine (going to the toilet a lot),
- extreme tiredness along with weight loss and muscle wasting.

Other symptoms can include:

- itchy skin around the genitals
- recurring thrush as a result of excessive glucose in the urine
- blurred vision caused by the lenses of the eyes becoming very dry.

However, not everyone will experience these other symptoms, and they are not usually severe in those who do get them.

Normally, the amount of sugar in the blood is controlled by a hormone called insulin. When food is digested and enters the bloodstream, insulin helps to move glucose out of the blood and into cells where it is broken down to produce energy. Diabetes normally occurs because there is not enough insulin in the body or because there is a poor resistance to insulin, so the body is unable to fully use the glucose (sugar) in the system.

Diabetes cannot be cured but the aim of treatment is to keep the blood glucose level as normal as possible and to control symptoms to prevent health problems developing in later life.

For type 2 diabetes there are a number of things people can do to remain healthy, such as taking regular exercise, eating a healthy diet and losing weight if the individual is overweight or obese. These measures may be enough to keep the blood glucose at a safe and healthy level without the need for other treatment.

For more information about both type one and type two diabetes, visit the Diabetes UK website at www.diabetes.org.uk.

New technique helping to save lives of patients with aneurysms

AN abdominal aortic aneurysm is a silent and deadly threat to life. It is where the body's main artery – the aorta – starts to bulge and expand.

It usually affects the section in the tummy just below the arteries to the kidneys. If the bulge continues to expand it can rupture with deadly consequences in over three-quarters of cases.

This silent killer has been difficult to detect but improved ultrasound and x-ray techniques mean that aneurysms can be diagnosed more quickly and at an earlier stage so they can be treated more safely and effectively.

In recent years the procedure of aneurysm surgery has progressed and can now be performed without major trauma. In the newer EVAR (endovascular aortic repair) technique, the aneurysm can be repaired with no more than small cuts in the groin under local anaesthesia.

These cuts are used to insert a stent device into an artery in the groin. The device is passed into the aorta and opened up to exclude the aneurysm from the circulation and prevent it from rupturing. The surgical trauma to the patient is significantly lessened and the survival rates are higher than open surgery.

Over the past three years surgeons at Princess Alexandra Hospital, led by consultants Jonathan Refson and Ahmed Abidia, have been performing these life-saving procedures.

PAH was one of the first hospitals outside large teaching organisations to provide the EVAR service and it is now extending the service to respond to emergency cases as well as planned ones.

Mr Refson said: "We have been very successful with the introduction of the EVAR technique at PAH. We have performed the procedure on more than 80 planned patients with very few problems and better survival than the open technique.

"Until now we have only performed the procedure on patients who have been diagnosed with a problem and have been booked in for surgery. Our new service will also include an out-of-hours response to emergency patients."

Why men need to stay active after they enter middle age

THE Men's Health Forum is challenging organisations and local communities to help get one million more middle-aged men more active by the 2012 Olympics.

The challenge was issued as part of National Men's Health Week which aimed to improve men's physical activity levels, including through playing sport.

Currently 22 per cent of men die before they reach 64, compared with 13 per cent of women.

Higher levels of physical activity could make a big impact. Physically active men have a 20-30 per cent reduced risk of premature death and up to 50 per cent reduced risk of developing major chronic diseases.

Physical inactivity is directly linked to a wide range of major health problems including obesity, cardiovascular disease, diabetes and several cancers. Dr Ian Banks, president of the Men's Health Forum, said: "After the age of 35 there's a sharp decline in men's physical activity. Many men say they do not have the time but they also blame poor health or that they simply feel too old."

The aim is to help one million more men in the 35-64 age range in England achieve the Chief Medical Officer's minimum recommended levels of physical activity by 2012.

Public Health Minister Anne Milton said: "I'm sure a lot of men will recognise they may no longer be in shape, but it's never too late to get fit again. Cycling, gardening or having a kick-about with your children are all ways to get your heart rate up, burn the calories and get match fit."

Camera-shy badgers are gnome wreckers

MISCHIEVOUS badgers have got their revenge on a homeowner who set up a hidden camera to film their antics in her garden.

The animals have been digging up the lawn and even stealing clothes from her washing line.

The problems became so bad that Julie set up a secret camera hidden in a garden gnome to catch the badgers in the act.

But the cheeky creatures were having none of it and soon sabotaged the gnomecam by knocking it over and taking away part of its microphone so they couldn't be recorded!

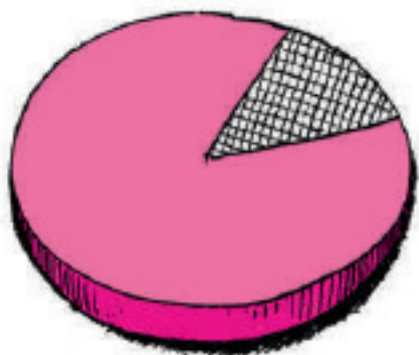

Julie has already lost one of her favourite dresses to the badgers after they pulled it off her washing line.

She had hoped the gnomecam – which was set up by reporters from the BBC – would capture their night-time antics. But when she went to check the camera the next morning she was disappointed.

She told reporters: "When I got up the gnome was dead! The badgers had attacked him in the night, so there was obviously something they didn't like about him."

Your stars with Patrick Arundell

to guide you through the week ahead

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20
It's Venus' turn to move homes, gliding, ironically for you, into your home sector. And making your abode that bit more comfy can certainly be a clarion call in the week's to come. If you already have a stylish pad, laid-out just as you wish, a spot of redecoration may be in order. Your garden can also become more of a sanctuary. Time with the family can be blessed. Call now for more astral advice...

Taurus Apr 21-May 21
This week sees a major planetary alignment - combining both a Lunar Eclipse and a T-Square. A lot of people are going to be competing to get their voices heard, but because of this things can be said in the blink of an eye, that would be better said at all. If you feel yourself getting excited in all this babble, just try to stay as composed as possible. Call your prediction line for more advice...

Gemini May 22-Jun 21
Sociability and friendship have come very easily to you of late. But just because people seem fun to be with, as you get to know any new friends better, you may also start to see less positive aspects of their nature. A lack of generosity or sharing can be one that comes up this week. Equally, you can find yourself fancying someone who's not available. Call me now for your love scope in full...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23
Your desire to do as you please can clash with a partner's desire for you to do that they want! Now, if you can meet each other in the middle, and be a bit more flexible, the chances are that you can achieve a really good, if not perfect, balance. With your ambitions high, you may also want a loved one to remain resolutely supportive. Don't assume this. Call now for your love scope in full...

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23
You might not like people seeing you at weaknesses Leo, but that doesn't necessarily mean that it is a bad thing to show them. Why? Because you may be coming across more aloofly and self contained than you really feel. How can people react to you in a warmer and more caring way, if you don't let them in? Perhaps it's time to lower your guard and trust. Call now for your in-depth forecast...

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23
Whatever hopes and dreams that you are pursuing, there may be some sacrifices that you need to make, to achieve them. And that may not be easy, because some of things that you may need to put to one side, may be those that you enjoy. For example, time for socializing may go by the by. But just how much do you want this success, that's the key? Call now for more news and advice...

Libra Sept 24-Oct 23
You're much better at taking on responsibilities than people think. Sure, you can be a bit indecisive at times, but that's not such a bad thing because you realize that some issues need to be carefully weighed before finally making your mind up. And you can also be very fair. Now you can be much more in demand, but don't expect too much down time. Call your prediction line for more news...

Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22
Keep an overnight bag packed Scorpio, because you may be about to be whisked off on a business trip or replace a mutual friend who pulls out of a weekend away. You may also have to make some snap judgments regarding business deals. Anyone you find tricky to get along with, should be treated with caution. Signed contracts only after deliberation. Call now for more news and astral advice...

Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21
Try to be equitable in your dealings. If you put your interests above others - especially around finances, it could cause a rumpus. Pluto is stirring mischief and there is also a Lunar Eclipse. If however, you are straightforward, this can be a time of great improvements. In relationships, however much you love freedom, the best ties do require some commitment. Call for more...

Capricorn Dec 22-Jan 20
The emotional and home sector of your horoscope is very restless. This means that if you are feeling unhappy in any relationships, you can look to new people or a new person, to solve any crisis. This may work out for you, but some of the pattern you may be trying to escape from, could be coming from yourself. Look before you jump from frying pan to fire. Call me for your love scope in full...

Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19
There is a fantastic, exciting element to your solar horoscope, but that it also comes with some pitfalls. Most notable of these, is the temptation to overdo things. Resting may seem dull, but quite simply Aquarius, you are not a machine. If you treat your body like one, just occasionally it can become jammed. Take some time out. Rest. Create the space to breathe. Call for your in-depth forecast...

Pisces Feb 20-Mar 20
Just how much money are you going to throw at the dazzling romantic possibility? While you spend, spend, spend; ask yourself, will it bring you any gratification? Then again, your love life may be settled, but you can find that your desires have rarely been higher - as far as retail therapy or rich foods. With you checking, you may soon pile on the pounds. Call me for your love scope in full...

The search starts for panto dancers

By DAN PHILLIPS
daniel.phillips@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

ALTHOUGH many people are counting the days to their summer holiday, The Playhouse is already preparing for this year's pantomime.

Even though there are still 184 days till Christmas, planning for the annual festive feast of family fun is well under way.

This year audiences will be treated to Aladdin. And if you are fed up watching dreary dancing dogs and an endless stream of sweaty street dancing groups take the plaudits of Simon Cowell and his cohorts every Saturday evening, now's your chance to show you can do better.

The producers have started the search for young people aged 8-15 with the talent to appear alongside the main characters on stage.

Auditions will be held by theatre company New World Productions, which is returning to the Harlow theatre following the record-breaking success of last year's show Cinderella. Producer Gary Telfer said: "Following on from last year, we are very keen to give the local community the chance to appear in another successful show. "It's a very different show from Cinderella. There will be new routines and songs so it will be a different challenge.

"We had a lot of fantastic dancers audition last year and I'm sure the local community will enjoy being involved this year as well."

Open dance auditions will be held at The Playhouse on Sunday, July 18. Auditions for boys and girls aged 8-9 will start at 10.30am, followed by ages 10-11 at 12.30pm, 12-13 at 2.30pm and 14-15 at 4.30pm.

Those auditioning must be ready at the relevant time and are asked to wear "appropriate" clothing and footwear.

All those chosen to take part in the show must be available to rehearse every Sunday during November and ensure they are available during the pantomime's run from Friday, December 3 to Thursday, January 3.

Tickets for the pantomime are now on sale and are available from the theatre box office on (01279) 431945 or at www.playhouseharlow.com/whatson/plays/aladdin.

Following in the footsteps of Jacko

YOUNGSTERS learned how to move like Michael Jackson when two of the late King of Pop's backing troupe visited a Harlow dance school.

Nick Bass and Misha Gabriel, who were both set to join Jackson on stage for the ill-fated This Is It tour – dropped into Makin' Steps to host two intensive dance workshops.

Almost 100 students who attend the Potter Street academy turned out to learn moves set to some of Jacko's classic hits before being treated to an exclusive performance of a routine that would have been performed on the tour.

Dance tutor Scott Simpson told the Star: "We are so proud of how well our students did in picking up Nick and Misha's moves.

"They are among the best in the world at what they do and to be able to give our students the opportunity to learn from them is a fantastic privilege."

>>who's on at the square

>>TONIGHT Sorting the wheat from the chaff every Thursday night, Incoming presents another ear-popping line-up of the hottest new music tonight with sets from The New Believers and Amateur Assassins. Doors open at 8pm and admission is cost £4 (free for members).

Beat Burglars and DJ Ian 'Mr Hip' Chatterly. Doors open at 8pm and admission is £7 (£6 members).

GET HIM TO THE GREEK certificate 15 1h49m

SUPPORTING characters can make a film.

James Bond wouldn't have his licence to thrill without diabolical villains Jaws and Oddjob, Darth Vader's heavy breathing booms across the Star Wars universe and Batman would be little more than a bored billionaire in fancy dress without the demented Joker.

Likewise, Gollum was precious to the Lord Of The Rings trilogy and Stanley Kubrick's 2001: A Space Odyssey wouldn't be quite as epic without omnipresent computer HAL-9000.

However, these characters linger on the periphery for a reason: we love their eccentricities in small, concentrated doses.

Get Him To The Greek foolishly promotes a supporting player – Russell Brand's egotistical rock star Aldous Snow from the 2008 relationship comedy Forgetting Sarah Marshall – to centre stage in his own film.

You can have too much of a good thing and we have our fill of Aldous's sexist outbursts well before the first hour.

After years of dizzying success, Aldous releases an album which is lambasted by critics. Soon after, the singer breaks up with girlfriend Maggie Q (Rose Byrne) and falls into disrepute in London.

During a pitch meeting with crazed record company supremo Sergio (Sean Combs), underling Aaron Green (Jonah Hill) hits upon the brilliant idea of a 10th anniversary comeback concert to celebrate Snow's most famous live outing at the legendary Greek Theater in Los Angeles.

Despite initial reservations, Sergio eventually agrees and issues his minion with an ultimatum: to get Snow to the venue within 72 hours.

Unfortunately, Aldous loves to party, leading to a series of debauched encounters that jeopardise Aaron's relationship with his girlfriend Daphne (Elisabeth Moss).

Get Him To The Greek is a filthy-minded road movie pairing a sweet, lovable everyman with a swaggering lech. Rapport between the leads is lukewarm, giving Combs the opportunity to scene steal as the bullish music maven with a large family to support.

Writer-director Nicholas Stoller contrives some sporadically hilarious sequences but he also pads out the running time with dull interludes that leave us feeling uncomfortable.

Like the LP which takes the lustre off Aldous' glittering career, Get Him To The Greek hits too many bum notes.

£20m worth of homes go under the hammer at special UK auction

RISING interest and demand for properties at auction has enabled the UK's largest regional auctioneer, Countrywide Property Auctions, to launch an additional auction event in London.

More than 120 motivated sellers have signed up for the event, which takes place at the BMA House in Tavistock Square, London, WC1H 9JP at 2pm on Wednesday, June 30.

The value of properties available totals approximately £20m, with properties from across the UK supplied by local agents including Bairstow Eves Eastern.

Guide prices are set to begin from £120,000 upwards with ideal first time homes, investment opportunities and substantial family homes all going under the hammer.

The appeal of property auctions has soared over the past 18 months as the prospect of a quick sale grows in popularity for both buyers and sellers.

Mark Tanton, Countrywide's principal auctioneer, said: "One of the main benefits of buying and selling at auction is the variety of homes available and the speed of sale. The drop of the gavel signals the exchange of contracts and sales complete in just 20 working days.

"Auctions are traditionally seen as a place for investors and developers, but we are seeing a rising number of first time buyers and second home buyers all looking to snap up a bargain."

Local agent Bairstow Eves Eastern is supporting this special event. To find out more about the properties in the local area going to auction or if you would like to sell your property through auction, visit www.countrywidepropertyauctions.co.uk or contact your local Bairstow Eves Eastern office.

Hybrid Auris sets the standard

Toyota's acclaimed hybrid technology is now more widely available thanks to the Auris HSD. STEVE WALKER reports

QUITE a few of Toyota's eggs have been resting in the hybrid technology basket for some time now.

More than any other manufacturer, the Japanese marque has gambled on the double act of internal combustion engine and electric motor as the driving force in the short to medium term future.

The Auris HSD is Toyota's industry leading Hybrid Synergy Drive powertrain in a familiar package and a key part of the plan to take hybrid mainstream.

Before the Auris HSD, UK car buyers who wanted a Toyota hybrid had only the iconic Prius to choose from. In contrast to the Prius, the Auris HSD is merely another version of Toyota's Auris family hatchback.

The Hybrid Synergy Drive is a fiendishly complex piece of kit compared to the bog-standard petrol or diesel engines available elsewhere in the Auris range and the wider family hatchback sector. It's built around a 1.8-litre petrol engine with VVT-i variable valve timing and a 97bhp output.

That unit is then complemented by an 81bhp electric motor, a high performance battery and an

FACT file
Toyota Auris HSD	PRICE £18,950-£20,700 on the road
INSURANCE GROUPS	4-5 (estimated)
PERFORMANCE	0-60mph 11.4s / top speed 112mph
ECONOMY	70.6-74.3mpg
CO<sub>2</sub> EMISSIONS	89-93g/km
WILL IT FIT IN YOUR GARAGE?(l/w/h)	4220mm/1760mm/1515mm advanced power control unit that ensures the two power sources work effectively together.

The Auris HSD is a full hybrid that means the two power sources can work in tandem or in isolation. The car can run exclusively in Electric Vehicle mode for short periods but, under normal circumstances, the electric motor assists the petrol engine under acceleration. When the car is coasting or braking, the electric motor acts as a generator, recapturing kinetic energy to charge the battery. The total power output of the Auris HSD is 134bhp – a healthy total for a family hatch – and it's sent to the wheels via a CVT automatic gearbox. Detailed information is provided via the car's multi-information display to keep drivers abreast of what the Hybrid Synergy Drive is up to, as well as the fuel economy being achieved.

The Auris HSD looks ostensibly the same as any other Toyota Auris with styling that's neat and tidy. It's a far cry from the Prius which cases the same powertrain in bodywork that has come to shout hybrid at anyone with a passing interest in cars. There are clues as to the technology that lies beneath the Auris HSD's exterior. These include a reshaped grille and an extension of the wide air intake below to improve airflow and cooling efficiency. The ride height is 5mm lower and special alloy wheels are fitted along with a rear spoiler.

The modifications are chiefly made for aerodynamic reasons and they reduce the Auris HSD's drag coefficient from 0.290 to 0.263, but the knock-on effect is that they make the car look a bit sportier which may be of more interest to many buyers.

Inside, the instruments have been reconfigured to include a series of graphical representations showing the operation of the hybrid system and various measures of how efficient the Auris is being and has been. The starter button illuminates in blue and there are switches on the centre console to choose between the EV, ECO and Power driving modes.

Toyota has invested a lot of time, effort and cash into developing its Hybrid Synergy Drive technology and the Auris HSD is tasked with reaping the dividends. A key rival will be the Honda Insight hybrid, but to really make it big the petrol/electric Auris will need to persuade buyers away from green versions of mainstream family hatchbacks, the majority of which use conventional diesel engines.

The ultimate goal of all this technology is fuel efficiency and its resulting environmental and financial benefits. The car is being made available in two versions, one with 17-inch wheels that achieves 71mpg and CO<sub>2</sub> emissions of 93g/km and another that, thanks to 15-inch wheels, improves matters to 74mpg and 89g/km. That makes the Auris HSD one of the most efficient cars on sale and sets the standard to which the rest of the family hatch class must aspire.

Toyota has made a huge investment in developing and refining hybrid engine technology and the Auris HSD is one of the models that must make it pay.

It brings the Hybrid Synergy Drive to a more mainstream audience by installing it as little more than an engine option in the company's sturdy family hatchback. It's hard to argue with economy and emissions figures that make it one of the cleanest vehicles on sale but it is still possible to get close to Auris HSD returns in its most efficient diesel rivals.

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

TOUCH DOWN: Jed Dilloway and Lawrence Dallaglio (s)

Dallaglio tips young player

ENGLAND World Cup winner Lawrence Dallaglio has tipped a young Upper Clapton Rugby Club player for future success.

The former England captain ran an exclusive training session for talented youngsters.

Jed Dilloway, 8, joined 100 fellow rugby players aged between 6 and 18 at Twickenham for the Sacla National Training Day, courtesy of Italian food manufacturers Sacla.

Having put the youngsters through their paces, the England great was impressed by what he saw.

Dallaglio said: "The quality of rugby on display was fantastic and a testament to all the young rugby players who have taken part."

"Who knows, we may have unearthed some real stars for the future? I hope that I have been able to pass on some of the skills required to reach the very top of the game as well as the core values of rugby – including respect, enjoyment, discipline, sportsmanship and teamwork."

Jed, from Sawbridgeworth, was overjoyed at the experience: "It was really good fun, my favourite part was when we played tag and meeting Lawrence Dallaglio."

The 37-year-old, from Hollyfield, picked up the award at the League's annual dinner held at Bishop's Stortford Football Club.

He said: "I'm really pleased. My wife Karen gives me a lot of support and she's my toughest critic.

"I enjoy doing it and tell the players what I want before the game and what I expect. I try to be approachable."

He added: "I analyse what I do after every game and whether I got to the right angles to make the right decisions."

"I am also a member of the Harlow and District Referees Society and you can learn so much from other officials."

The event was also memorable for Potter Street.

After claiming the runner-up spot in the Bill Bruty Cup, they won the Sportsmanship Award for division two and the overall title for their exemplary disciplinary record.

Neil Hewitt's efforts as a linesman also earned Potter Street the Club Linesman Award.

Morgan, who previously played for the club's first team and reserves as a defender, said: "We could have done a playing treble as we were also runners-up in the premier division."

"I am very pleased to have won the Sportsmanship Trophy. The previous season we had lots of problems with yellow cards for things like dissent and a lot of credit should go to our manager Eric Foster for the

Osagie hoping for 3As trials

TOP Harlow athlete Andrew Osagie is hoping to shake off his hip injury and compete in the AAA European trials in Birmingham this weekend.

The 22-year-old, from Northbrooks, has been suffering from a weak tendon in his hip after enjoying a successful indoor season during which he won the 800m at the British Championships in Sheffield and also reached the semi-finals of the 800m in the World Championships in Qatar.

"It has been a question of taking a few steps back to go a few steps forward," said Osagie. "I have been training for over a month now and making steady progress. I hope to be OK for this weekend to try and get there for the European (in July)."

● HARLOW Athletic Club wheelchair athlete Richard Chisario came fourth in both the 100m (14.89s) and 400m (53.55s) at the Stoke Mandeville International Meet. Chisario pulled out of the 200m because of tendonitis in his right arm.

Tom Richards from St Marks in Harlow was 9th out of 15th in the U-20 javelin event with a 50.71m throw at the Aviva England Championships in Bedford.

Novice Rosie blooms with second

A SUPERB performance from discus novice Rosie Poole secured her second spot for Harlow Athletic Club's youth team in their second Eastern Young Athletes match of the season at Luton.

For several athletes this was their competitive debut and the excellent weather conditions made it an enjoyable event in which many personal bests were set.

In the U-13 girls, Rosie who only recently took up discus, threw 12.56m in the A string for second.

She also set a personal best (PB) of 2:53.1 in the A 800m and in the long jump with a leap of 2.92m.

Competing in the same age group, Marie Agayre set a PB in the 70m hurdles (14.3s) and in the long jump (3.30m).

And in her first competition, Rachel Jolley set a PB of 3:12.2 for the U-13 girls in the 800m.

In the U-15 girls, Eleanor Moss covered all three throwing events and narrowly missed out on PBs in the shot put (5.42m) and discus (13.18m).

Eleanor also competed in the javelin where she threw 13.56m.

A safety throw allowed Marleen Avontuur to score some points for the club (8.57m) in the B string event.

Marleen improved her PB for 200m to 30.5s and threw 19.03m in the A-string discus.

Two second places were the best results for the U-13 boys and came in the 100m B-race for Sherman Boldizar (15.3s).

Sherman also came third in the B-string high jump with a height of 1.15m and third in the B-string long jump with 3.47m.

Cunningham's delight as Hawks avoid drop

HAWKS co-owner Tommy Cunningham said he was delighted after receiving the news that Harlow Town have escaped relegation from Ryman League division one north.

The Hawks learned last month they would probably do so but this was only ratified after an appeal by VCD Athletic's to the Football Association was rejected.

VCD finished 8th but failed to get their ground up to league requirements by March 31.

Two sides were due to go down from Ryman League division one north at the end of the 2009/10 season but this was reduced to one because of what happened in other leagues. Harlow finished bottom.

Cunningham said: "It is a massive relief for us and we have been fortunate. I feel for VCD; I would not be happy if I was them."

"I am delighted. I am really pleased for the fans who supported us regardless of who was in charge. It puts us a year in front of where we thought we would be (in the Essex Senior League for 2010/11) when we took over in February."

An FA spokesman said: "VCD failed to get their ground ready to the required standard by March 31 and they are relegated."

"Only one side is relegated and that is VCD. Harlow remain in Ryman division one north."

Double winner at pro-am tournament

JASON Levermore had a double reason to celebrate when Canons Brook Golf Club staged a pro-am event.

Friday's tournament, which was supported by the Star, saw Levermore, win by four shots with a six under par 67. His round included an eagle at the 507-yard par five 18th hole.

Levermore, a professional based at Clacton Golf Club, also teamed up with Gary Jarvis, Ben Jarvis and Bernie Cochrane to win the team event (14 under par).

Ninety-six golfers (24 teams) took part. Canons Brook pro Alan McGinn said: "The day went well. It was successful!"

Ton-up Ahmed leads the way

Harlow 264-3
Basildon and Pitsea 117
Harlow won by 147 runs
(Shepherd Neame Essex League division two)

SKIPPER Jason McNally praised Rehman Ahmed after his unbeaten century set the platform for Harlow's convincing home win over Basildon and Pitsea, writes David Rimmer.

Ahmed made 106 not out in Saturday's match at Marigolds after the hosts were put in.

He received support from Nilesh Modhwadia (22) and Ahmed Khawaja (19) as Harlow reached 110-2. Rehman Ahmed then shared a third wicket stand of 154 with McNally, who made a swift 94.

"Rehman said he was going to bat all day and he can when he sets his mind to it," said McNally. "He batted very well and when I got going he gave me the strike."

In reply, Basildon's first wicket pair of Andre Olivier and Danny Gray put on 46 for the first wicket before the latter was caught and bowled by Khawaja for 15.

Khawaja also accounted for Olivier before Luke Heskett nipped in with three wickets. Ex-Essex bowler Andrew McGarry took 5-22 to clinch victory.

Harlow, who are now second, host Old Southendians this Saturday.

HARLOW Town I (232-7) lost by seven wickets at home to Farnham (233-3). Town batted first and their innings was marked by a fine 118 from Shiraz Ali, pictured, who shared a third wicket century stand with Scott Alderson (27). The hosts dropped seven catches in Farnham's innings which saw Nick Prowse (101 not out) and Ben Oakes (54) play key knocks. Town are fifth and face Bishop's Stortford II away this Saturday.
